

Passing Activity on a Busy Recreational Road in Spain: Level and Climbing Section

Manuel Romana Garcia
Departamento de Transportes
Universidad Politécnica de Madrid
Ciudad Universitaria
Madrid, Spain
mromanag@gmail.com

ABSTRACT

Passing activity was measured with low to medium flows in a road leading to a mountainous recreational area near Madrid, Spain. Passing was measured both in a level-to-rolling section and a climbing section. Passing activity was compared with theoretical passing demand and other values from the literature.

Key words: mountainous area—passing activity—Spain