Getting teens excited about careers in transportation

Career fairs, field trips, and job shadowing are a few ways private and public agencies try to interest young people in transportation careers.

CTRE is planning another way—an online magazine. Initially targeted to Iowa teens, the online magazine will cover a range of careers in transportation, especially those in building and maintaining Iowa's infrastructure. These jobs especially are invisible to most teens.

To fund this publication, CTRE is seeking grants and other donations from organizations that have a stake in Iowa's transportation workforce.

We'd like to thank the AGC of Iowa Foundation, our first gold-level sponsor, and the Iowa Laborers/Employers Cooperation and Education Trust Fund for their donations. CTRE has also won a grant from Iowa State University.
